About Lockwood Guns â?? Craftsmanship Meets Precision

Lockwood Guns is more than just a firearms manufacturer; we are a testament to the marriage of traditional craftsmanship and modern precision.

Unmatched Material Quality

At Lockwood Guns, our commitment to quality is non-negotiable. We believe that a firearm is not just a tool; itâ??s a legacy. This belief is deeply embedded in our choice of materials. We use 4140-grade steel for our barrels, a material renowned for its outstanding strength and resilience. This type of steel ensures that our barrels can withstand high pressures, providing consistent performance and exceptional longevity.

Moving on to the body of our firearms, we employ 7075 T6 grade aluminum. This aerospace-grade aluminum is known for its lightweight properties coupled with superior strength, making our guns not only durable but also comfortable for extended use. The choice of 7075 T6 aluminum allows us to craft firearms that balance robustness with ease of handling â?? a crucial factor for both enthusiasts and professionals.

Elegance in Wood and Plastic

Elegance and comfort in handling are pivotal in our design philosophy. To achieve this, we incorporate quality walnut wood in our firearms. Walnut not only brings a classic aesthetic appeal but also offers durability and a natural grip. Each piece of walnut wood is carefully selected and treated to enhance its natural patterns, ensuring that every Lockwood Gun stands out as a piece of art.

For those who prefer a more contemporary look and feel, we offer options with high-quality plastic components. These plastics are selected for their durability, resistance to environmental factors, and lightweight properties. Our plastic components provide a modern touch while maintaining the ergonomic design and reliability that Lockwood Guns is known for.

Commitment to Excellence

Every Lockwood Gun is a result of meticulous design, expert engineering, and precise manufacturing. We stand by the quality of our products, ensuring that each firearm not only meets but exceeds the

A New Era in Lever Action: Unique US Models

Weâ??ve also redefined the lever-action experience. Our unique models like the US112 in Odd Green and Camouflage, and others with replaceable barrel sets, bring a new level of adaptability to the lever-action genre.

Special Editions and Customization

Lockwood Guns honors various constituencies with our special editions and allows for personalization through our customization program. Whether itâ??s for dedicated servicemen, first responders, or commemorating a corporate milestone, our firearms can be tailored to suit.
